

City Market Site Purchase Ordered By Council's Vote

Decisive Victory for Women Comes After
Sharp and Extended Debate in Chamber.

MOVE TO RECONSIDER
DELAYS EXECUTION

Edgewood Avenue Land
Is Favored in Action of Council—Six Oppose Measure.

Supporters of a public market won a decisive victory in city council Monday afternoon when that body, after lengthy and sharp debate between opposing sides, voted 14 to 6 in favor of purchasing a lot on Edgewood avenue for a market site.

This parcel was the choice of the Atlanta Woman's club and was picked as the most suitable lot by the joint finance and municipal research committees from a list of twelve proposed sites submitted for consideration.

Although the sentiment was more than two to one for the market, any further action toward buying the site was halted for two weeks when Councilman Fred C. Woodall and Councilman W. C. Jenkins moved for a reconsideration, which automatically blocks the measure until the next regular meeting of the council.

"Council only" participated in the voting, since the aldermen do not vote on measures involving the appropriation of money. The vote was as follows:

Vote on Roll Call.

For purchase of the Edgewood avenue property: Councilmen Wardlaw, Renfro, Wood, Stone, Ashley, Gordon, Couch, Richards, Nutting, Hoffman, Buchanan, Jones, Sims and Murphy—14.

Against purchase: Councilmen Woodall, Etheridge, Jenkins, Anderson, Callaway and Alford—6.

The amount asked for the lot is $85,000. There is already an appropriation of $12,500 in the finance sheet to be applied to the purchase of a lot.

Alderman J. L. Carpenter led the opposition fight. At the last moment Councilman Nutting and Councilman Couch, who had been against locating the market building on Edgewood avenue, came over to the side of the women and voted with the group standing by them.

Councilman Nutting opened the argument. As chairman of the committee that investigated the sites he made his report accompanied by a declaration. "I think the committee have made a great mistake in selecting the Edgewood site. The ladies appeared before us and simply overwhelmed the committee."

Site Too Small, Claims.

"If only one central market is to be built this site that has been selected is not large enough. If we build four markets, as the women say they would like to, it is larger than we need. I think the lot on Washington street is the best suited for a central market because it is sufficiently big."

Councilman Gordon moved that the report be adopted. "The reason we of the committee decided as we did," he said, "was because the women have been working on this job for two years. We ought to think something of their judgment."

Councilman Couch offered a substitute lot on Hunter street, one that was presented by J. R. Hall. He stated that it had the advantage over the Edgewood site of being bigger, cheaper and accessible to sixteen street car lines.

A member moved that his substitute be tabled. The motion carried overwhelmingly, a test indication of comparative strength of the two factions.

Scores Opponents.

With the first skirmish decided, Alderman Goodhart took the floor and charged that the market opponents have been "throwing out smoke screens" to hinder its success. "They are trying to block it until next year," he declared, "with the hope of gaining other votes among the new members and perhaps kill it. The women have handed this proposition open and above board, and it's up to council now to back them up after they have devoted two years working for it."

He was followed by Alderman Carpenter. "I am against this market for three reasons," he asserted. "First,

All Banks in Georgia to Observance.

Armistice day, November 11, will be observed in Georgia as a legal holiday.

Governor Hardwick on Monday issued a proclamation in which he called on all people in the state to pay tribute to the heroes of the world war by observance of the anniversary date of the signing of the armistice.

The wording of the proclamation followed closely that of the national proclamation.

The banks in all Georgia cities and towns will be closed as a result of the governor's action and all negotiable paper maturing on that day will fall due on the following day, T. R. Bennett, superintendent of the state banking department, said.

"In looking into the matter, I have found that the governor has authority to set aside as a legal holiday any date, providing such action is for public thanksgiving or for religious purposes," Mr. Bennett said. "Armistice day comes under this head and the state banks will close on that date."

INTEREST RATE UNAFFECTED BY DISCOUNT RATE

One Has No Relation to Other, Says Harding, of the Federal Reserve Board.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON.
Constitution Bureau.
Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, November 7.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—It is the opinion of Governor W. P. G. Harding that interest rate reductions this week authorized by the federal reserve board will not be passed on to the public through the members banks. He gives a signed statement to that effect The Constitution.

Increase Bank Profits.

The farm loan act specifically prescribes that the rate to individual borrowers shall not be more than 1 per cent in excess of the rate the government pays on its loan farm bonds. The War Finance corporation prescribes that the same differential shall not exceed 1 1/2 per cent. The federal reserve act leaves it open to the member banks to charge to the limit of the state legal rate and more, as is frequently done.

Therefore, the recent reductions in federal reserve rates to member banks can only serve to increase the profits of the banks, without the public getting the benefit unless the banks in question so select to voluntarily extend the benefit of cheap money to the public.

The signed statement of Governor W. P. G. Harding, chairman of the federal reserve board, follows:

Harding Statement.

"The Atlanta Constitution: It is my personal opinion that there will be no general reduction in rates charged the public by member banks as a result of the recent revision in federal reserve bank rates. In normal times banks do not make a habit of rediscounting year in and year out. They make loans out of their own resources and rediscount moderately during crop-moving periods or in cases of emergency. Many banks do not like the idea of borrowing money merely to relend it at higher rates."

"It is my personal opinion that the effect of the federal reserve discount rate on rates made by banks to the public has been exaggerated. Banks have to take into account the expense of doing business, including taxes, the rate of interest paid by them on deposits and the volume of their deposits, so you can readily see that there are many factors which enter into a bank's rate to its customers which are entirely unconnected with a federal reserve bank. I think that there is a trend toward easier money conditions and, in some sections of the country, deposits are now showing a tendency to increase. Whenever banks begin to look around for good loans and to compete with each other for customers' paper, then I think you will see a reduction in the interest rate to the customer."

Cannot Control Loans.

"I do not think that it would be possible to make mandatory on member banks that they could not charge more than 1 per cent above the federal reserve rate established by the Federal Reserve Board."

ELECTIONS TODAY TO BENEFIT PARTY, DEMOCRATS CLAIM

Interest Centers in Virginia General Election, as Ballots Are Cast in Nine States.

BOTH SIDES CONFIDENT OF WINNING AT POLLS

Democrats, However,
Foresee Gains in Six States, Without Loss in Remaining Three.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON.
Constitution Bureau.
Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, November 7.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—At the headquarters of the national committee here it is confidently believed, based upon a tabulation of latest reliable estimates, that the democrats will make substantial gains tomorrow in New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Kentucky, Virginia and Indiana, and that they will hold their own in Illinois, West Virginia and Connecticut.

From a strictly party standpoint the greatest interest centers in Virginia, where there will be a general state election for governor, state house of officers and the assembly. The republican national committee has concentrated a terrific fight in that state in the interest of Colonel Henry W. White, the candidate of a reorganized white supremacy organization, for governor, Colonel Anderson being the candidate of the backers of the new republican machine in the Old Dominion which has been fashioned after the reorganization that the national republican committee effected in Georgia.

Victory Assured.

That Virginia will pull up an overwhelming democratic victory is a foregone conclusion despite republican promises to the contrary, but the interesting feature is to see what the republicans will do in the ninth district, which is represented in congress by Bascom Slemp, former chairman of the state republican committee, and how the republican vote throughout the state will measure up with the Harding vote of 1920. Representative Flood, chairman of the state democratic committee, declares the Slemp district will go democratic tomorrow as a repudiation of the administration for not keeping its promises, and as a rebuke to the majority in congress for its own record of continued high taxes, a tariff for the few at the expense of the masses, and for failing to enact any constructive legislation that could have prevented the bread lines that only old democratic remedial factors, like the War Finance corporation, have saved from becoming far more disastrous.

The negroes in Virginia have reorganized the white supremacy reorganization of the party and have put out their own candidate for governor. They are making a strenuous effort to hold their race in line. Several days ago, in a campaign statement, the leaders of the blacks issued a statement in which it was claimed that any black republican who voted for the white ticket would be not only a traitor to his race, but an enemy to the real republican party and its principles. Further than this, the negro leaders say:

Negro Statement.

"No self-respecting negro can vote for a candidate nominated by a convention which denied admission to and bodily ejected worthy delegates of their race. Any negro who is so low and degraded, so base and so ignoble, so absolutely devoid of common sense and self-respect as to vote for Henry W. White and his crowd of negro-hating liars, in our opinion, forever merits the scorn and suspicion of his own people."

Senator Carter Glass, who was prevented from taking part in the campaign on the hustings, declares in a letter to State Chairman Flood this week that the republican platform, which would change the elective franchise of the state constitution would restore negro rule in the state. He says Colonel Anderson would restore to the state a condition that caused honest men to be compelled to adopt methods of defense which were lawless and depraved.

State Chairman Flood gave out today the following estimate of democratic majorities by congressional districts, after claiming all of twenty-two cities and eighty of 100 counties as safely democratic: First, 7,000; second, 8,000; third, 12,000; fourth, 8,000; fifth, 5,000; sixth, 5,000; seventh, 3,000; eighth, 8,000; ninth, 6,000; tenth, 5,000—total 58,000.

Close Vote Foreseen.

While he says he expects the democrats to carry the ninth district, Mr. Flood concedes that the voting in that unit will be close. He expects Richmond to give Trinkle a majority running from 8,000 to 9,000.

Joseph L. Culpepper, state republican chairman, said Anderson's majority over Trinkle for governor would be 15,000. He declared the republicans would carry the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth congressional districts, and would make the issue for $85,510.27.

His War-Time Duty Over, A Reverent Nation Pays Tribute to Her Son An American Comes Home

BY WILLIAM SLAVENS M'NUTT,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, November 7.—During the war an American soldier marched down the streets of an American city on his way to the dock to embark for "somewhere in France." The street was lined with brilliant flags and streamers inscribed with patriotic slogans. Cheering townfolk thronged the sidewalk to bid him God-speed and good luck. The war feeling was at its height. The spirit of self-sacrifice was in the air. For once the sentiment of America was "one for all and all for one."

The marching boy in khaki was aglow with the fervent spirit that was dominant in the country then. In his mind were visions of fearful battle struggles and perhaps death. But clearest of all was the vision of himself returning to his homeland, a heroic unit with a victorious army; of marching again on the street he then trod with cheers of welcome instead of good-by thunders in his ears and his destination home and loved ones there instead of the desolate, death-swept, roaring front.

THE SORDID AGONY.

The sordid agony of a transport; a quick shift through a French port town; a wearying ride in flat-wheeled boxcars; the sound of artillery grumbling in the distance; the first sight of observation balloons high above the line; a march in the dark to a land of horror where machine guns splattered, shells whined and blared and the night sky was made a madman's dream by very lights, star shells and flaming omens. A short life in this land of death; a whistling roar, a flash and oblivion. The fighting army surged on and left him. The bit of board at the head of his grave was marked: "Unknown." The army of which he had been a part went through to victory and the Rhine and the tide of military traffic turned home. The outfit with which he went away landed in the United States and marched down the street which he had marched down. Welcoming cheers thundered in their ears and their destination was home and the loved ones there. Somewhere in the United States someone wept as the crowds cheered. Somewhere in France the boy who could not come home lay dead under the foreign sod with a board at his head marked: "Unknown."

THREAT OF HIS WELCOME.

The world went its blundering way to disastrous peace and the boy who had brought the world its chance for surcease from war with his life slept unknown in his unknown grave somewhere in France, cheated of the cheers of welcome which he had so fondly dreamed.

Then the miracle! Gentle hands broke the monotony of his repose, if only for a moment, as a march in the dark

Frenchmen Are Amazed

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, November 7.—The French delegation here to the conference on limitation of armament and Pacific affairs was completed tonight with the arrival of M. Aristide Briand, premier of France, at the head of several delegates from that country. He, with the other members of the party, were greeted by officials representing the American government and cheered by thousands of spectators gathered about the railway station.

HOPE FOR SETTLEMENT.

Secretary of State Hughes was the first to grasp the hand of the French premier and to extend the government's welcome to the visitors as they stepped from the special train. It was the second occasion on which the secretary had personally welcomed a conference group at the station. General Pershing, as the ranking representative of the army, also was present and was the first to salute and greet General Briand, chief of staff of the French army and acting military adviser to the delegates representing France at the forthcoming conference.

Other officials from the state department and the army met the visitors in New York and accompanied them on the special train here. They included Robert Woods Bliss, third assistant secretary of state; Jules J. Jusserand, French ambassador to the United States, who accompanied the party here from New York. Brigadier General Brewster, Admiral Cointer, chief of naval operations, and members of the state department staff were among others of the official reception committee at the station.

Washington Arrival.

After introductions had been exchanged in the president's room of the station, Premier Briand and Secretary Hughes, with their respective staff officials, were escorted through the main entrance and into automobile.

Tax Revision Bill Passed by Senate Early on Tuesday

$500 to heads of families and $200 for each dependent.
Candy from 5 per cent to 3 per cent.
Works of art from 10 per cent to 5 per cent.
Capital stock issues having a par value of less than $100 a share (stamp taxes).
Cereal beverages from 15 per cent of the sale price to 2 cents a gallon plus 5 cents a gallon on the sugar used in their manufacture.
Increased Taxes.
Taxes proposed to be increased include those on:
Corporation income from 10 per cent to 15 per cent.
Corporations through the repeal of the $2,000 normal exemption on those having a capital stock in excess of $25,000.
Estate taxes where the total sum exceeds $10,000.
Medicinal beer, wine (except champagne) and whisky.
Alcohol when diverted unlawfully for beverage purposes from $2.20 a gallon to $8.40 a gallon.
Taxes proposed to be changed in form include:
Stamp levies on perfumes, essences, toilet waters, extracts, hair oils, etc., to manufacturers' levies at 4 per cent.
Retail taxes on fountain drinks to manufacturers' levies of 7-12 cents a gallon on finished fountain syrups for such drinks.
Retail luxury taxes on carpets, trunks, valises, traveling bags, suitcases, hat boxes, fitted toilet cases, purses, pocketbooks, shopping and handbags, portable lighting fixtures, including lamps of all kinds and lamp shades, and fans costing in excess of certain amounts to manufacturers' taxes of 5 per cent.

New Taxes Proposed.
New taxes proposed to be imposed include:
Levies on gifts of property by any person at rates ranging from 10 per cent on the amount between $20,000 and $50,000 to 25 per cent on ten million dollars or more.
Manufacturers tax of 3 per cent on carbonic acid gas to make up part of the revenue lost in repealing the soda-water taxes.
Bonus Plans Lose.
During the day the senate rejected the two remaining soldier bonus amendments and then proceeded to dispose of the other amendments in rapid succession.
The debate on the Simmons and McKellar amendments proposing to utilize part of the interest of the foreign debt to finance adjusted compensation for the former service men consumed the first five hours of the session.
Both proposals were rejected by decisive votes, the Simmons amendment, 42 to 20, and the McKellar amendment, 44 to 25. The roll call on the Simmons amendment resulted as follows:
Roll Call.
For the amendment: Copper, Johnson,

Kenyon, Ladd, La Follette and Norris, Democrats; Ashurst, Broussard, Culberson, Fletcher, Gerry, Harris, Harrison, Hefflin, Jones (New Mexico), Kendrick, McKellar, Overman, Pittman, Pomeroy, Reed, Sheppard, Shields, Simmons, Stanley, Swanson, Walsh (Massachusetts), Walsh (Montana), and Watson (Georgia)—23.
Total, 23.
Against the amendment:
Republicans—Ball, Borah, Brandegee, Bursam, Cameron, Cummins, Curtis, Edger, Ernst, Fernald, Frenno, Frelinghuysen, Gooding, Hale, Jones (Washington), Koyes, Lenroot, Lodge, McCumber, McKinley, McNary, Moses, Nelson, New, Newberry, Nicholson, Norbeck, Oddie, Page, Penrose, Phipps, Pointer, Shortridge, Smoot, Spencer, Sutherland, Townsend, Warren, Watson (Indiana), Weller and Willis—41.
Total, 42.
Democrats—Myers—1.
Total, 42.
Only two republicans—La Follette and Norris—supported the McKellar amendment, while two democrats—King and Williams—opposed it.
Stock Sales Tax.
Without a roll call the senate adopted an amendment by Senator Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin, under which the net gain made by a taxpayer on the sales of stocks or corporations would be taxed at the full income normal and surtax rates. It was agreed that under the committee bill only 40 per cent of such gain would have been taxable because such sales would have come under the provision dealing with the taxation of gain from disposition of capital assets.
Senator Lenroot declared that under the original "stock gamblers in Wall street" would have been able to escape taxation on 60 per cent of their profits. He also contended that stockholders receiving stock dividends could convert their earnings into cash and escape taxation on 60 per cent of the gain thus made.
Under the amendment by Senator Frelinghuysen, republican, New Jersey, which was accepted, any trade business owned by a partnership or individual which was organized within four months after the passage of the tax bill as a corporation might, at the option of the partnership or individual, pay the corporation tax on the net income. The amendment, however, was not to be extended in the case of any business which retained in the taxable year 1921 20 per cent or more profits on the capital invested.

Amendment Adopted.
The senate adopted, 35 to 31, an amendment by Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, providing for a graduated tax on "transfers of property by gift by every person." The rates range from 1 per cent of the amount by which the gifts exceed $20,000, and do not exceed $50,000, to 25 per cent on the amounts in excess of $100,000.
Thirteen republicans joined the democrats in supporting the amendment, which, it was explained, is designed to prevent wealthy individuals from escaping the payment of surtax through the division of their property among their relatives.
Republicans voting with the amendment were: Cummins, Johnson, Jones of Washington, Kenyon, Ladd, La Follette, Lenroot, McNary, Norbeck, Norris, Townsend and Willis.
By a vote of 22 to 22, the senate rejected an amendment by Senator Jones, democrat, New Mexico, proposing to allow partnerships and individuals to elect whether they should pay taxes on the net income from their business at the corporation or individual income rates.
Profits Tax Loses.
Another effort to continue the excess profits tax after this calendar year failed. The senate rejected, 28 to 30, an amendment by Senator Reed proposing a tax of 20 per cent on net profits of corporations in excess of $100,000 of the income capital. The amendment was supported by seven republicans, Copper, Johnson, Kenyon, La Follette, McNary, Norbeck and Penrose.
Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, brought up the sales tax again tonight, proposing his original 3 per cent tax on manufacturers' levies with a 10 per cent corporation tax, a 32 per cent maximum income surtax rate and a capital tax. It was rejected without a recorded vote.
Reconsidering its former action, the senate voted to allow original purchasers of Liberty and Victory bonds, an exemption equal to the interest on money borrowed to purchase or carry those bonds. The senate previously had agreed to allow an exemption only on the difference between the interest on the money borrowed, and the amount of interest received from the bonds.
Capital Stock Tax.
Then on motion of Senator Pomeroy, democrat, Ohio, the senate voted, 41 to 24, to amend the capital stock tax on all corporations the same as at present—one dollar on each $1,000 of capital stock in excess of $5,000.
In rapid succession the senate rejected three amendments proposing changes in the corporation income tax rate of 15 per cent previously agreed upon. The first amendment, by Senator Edge, republican, New Jersey, proposed retention of the present 10 per cent rate, the second by Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, proposed a rate of 10 to 20 per cent, and the third by Senator Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin, proposed a 10 per cent rate in the case of corporations having net profits of 8 per cent or less.
For a second time and by a vote of 24 to 28 the senate rejected the La Follette amendment proposing to make tax returns a matter of public record. So the republicans joined the democrats in supporting the amendment.

Big Damage Suit.
Texas Oil Company Sued Following Explosion.
Valdosta, Ga., November 7.—(Special.)—Damage suits aggregating $85,000 were filed in the office of the superior court of Lowndes county this week. The suits are against the Texas Oil company, and are brought by Mrs. Blanche Giddens and her brother, Elbert Griffin, formerly of Newton county.
The suits are the result of burns and subsequent death of Betty Gaskins, young daughter of Mrs. Gaskins, and burns received by Mrs. Gaskins, and Griffin when an explosion followed the use of gasoline which they alleged was thought to be kerosene, in trying to start a fire in the home.
The petition states that an agent for the oil company sold what was supposed to be kerosene to the Porter-Mercantile company, near Covington, for sale to its customers, and the plaintiff purchased what she thought was kerosene. Instead of being kerosene, it is set forth, it was gasoline or some other highly inflammable explosive. The accident from which these suits grow occurred in Newton county, but the plaintiffs since have moved to Lowndes county.
A patent has been obtained on an electric alarm to be attached to a pocketbook.
Louisa May Abbott and her father, inseparable companions in life, died two days apart.

FIVE MEN CHARGED IN ASSAULT CASE

Marianna, Fla., November 7.—Five men said to be employees of the St. Andrews Bay Lumber company, which operates mills at Marianna and other points in Bay county, were at liberty today on bail of $500 each for their appearance in federal court at Pensacola this week, as a result of the assault upon John E. Winstanley, a labor organizer of Mobile, who was taken from a train at Fountain the night of October 29 and severely beaten.
Winstanley is confined to his bed here and is said to be in a serious condition.
The men arrested on federal warrants and released under bond by United States Commissioner W. W. Bruce, of this city, are R. E. W. W. Stokes, R. E. White, J. T. W. and A. I. Heble. All deny they had anything to do with the assault and have employed counsel to represent them.
The district has been the scene of labor trouble for several months.

Macon Artist Dies AFTER LONG ILLNESS
Macon, Ga., November 7.—(Special.)—John A. Bethune, widely known young Macon business man, today died at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. J. T. Ware, 114 Holt avenue. He recently returned from Texas, where he spent some time seeking to regain his health.
Mr. Bethune was an artist of remarkable ability, and his pictures had attracted much attention here.
Besides his wife, who was formerly Miss Ottilie Ware, he leaves two children and one sister, Mrs. J. Gibbons, of Charlotte, N. C.

NEGRO GIRLS' SCHOOL DESTROYED BY FIRE

Anniston, Ala., November 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Fire of evident incendiary origin today destroyed the Barber Memorial Female seminary, a vocational boarding school for girls with practically all of its contents. The building, a large three-story brick structure, was valued at $75,000. The total loss is estimated at $100,000, with only $25,000 insurance.
Several fires were discovered in various parts of the building, all seemingly started simultaneously, and all were extinguished except one which was not discovered on an upper floor till too late to save the building.
The building was situated on the side of a hill, removed from a water plug, and it was impossible for the fire department to reach it.

CITY MARKET SITE PURCHASE ORDERED

We don't need it, second, we haven't got the money, and third, the location is bad.
"Who on the upside of the green earth would want to go down here in a hole to locate a market? I believe in the people ruling. You're afraid of the people. They'd show it under too good to talk about. Getting right down to brass tacks, not a member of this council would give $85,000 for that lot. I know something about real estate myself. It's worth it. It's worth about $60,000."
Answers Charges.
After the alderman had delivered himself of this speech and sat down, he rose on a point of personal privilege to reply to charges made by Mayor Key last Saturday that "direct, contemptible politics" has been played against the market.
"I want to set myself right with the council and with the people of Atlanta, among whom I have lived so long," he said. "Last Saturday I appeared at a meeting to oppose this market, which I thought I had a right to do."
The mayor attacked him and assailed me in an unbecoming manner. He said that there had been a whole lot of dirty politics played in this thing, and he shook his finger in my face and said, 'It's you, Mr. Carpenter.'"
Turning to Mayor Key, who was sitting near, the alderman stated: "Mr. Mayor, that's not true. I've never done an underhand thing in politics in my life, and I don't expect to." His speech closed the debate.
Julian Boehm, president of the Citizens club, stated Monday night that a report in an afternoon newspaper that the Citizens club had agreed to underwrite the cost of erecting the proposed market building, was an error.
"We are heartily for the market," said Mr. Boehm. "But what we propose to do was to give our moral support. We do not want the erroneous impression to get to the public that we are to finance the building."

TRIAL OF CATTS ON PEON CHARGE FIRST ON DOCKET

Pensacola, Fla., November 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Many important cases were on the docket of the federal court when the fall session began today.
The case of Sidney J. Catts, former governor, indicted at the last term of court in connection with the charge of alleged peonage, heads the list. Mr. Catts is in the city awaiting the call of the case. The federal grand jury was organized Tuesday and Judge Sheppard, in his charge, referred to the practice of bands of men who adopt disguises in many cases of lawlessness, and touched on the subject of mobism.
There are to come up at this term court many important cases besides the Catts alleged peonage case, among them the charges against Captain Mental, of the schooner Viola, for the alleged smuggling of Chinese into this country, and Chester Wing, Chinaman, charged with being connected with the alleged smuggling.

CATHOLIC COLLEGE BURNS AT MACON

Macon, Ga., November 7.—St. Stanislaus college, a Jesuit institution for the priesthood located just outside of the city limits, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin, tonight. The building, five stories high and constructed of brick, cost $150,000. It was insured for $80,000. There was no loss of life, but firemen rescued two priests, Rev. Father J. de Potter, president of the college, and Rev. Father Merriweather, the latter 88 years of age.
Persons and students sacrificed their personal property in effort to save the priceless library of the institution. They succeeded in carrying out all of the old volumes that could not be replaced, it was announced late today by Rev. Father J. Bernard, treasurer of the college. These included a Spanish Bible dated 1490 and another Bible dated 1510.
There were only thirty students in the institution when the fire started. Rev. Father Bernard stated, and twenty priests and teachers. A large class had only recently been transferred to another Jesuit college, after completing their course here, it was stated.
Third and fourth-year students departed on the morning train for the chapel from supper. They located the fire on the fifth floor. With hoses provided on each floor the students unsuccessfully attempted to check the blaze. They then sought to ring the bell and found the bell rope burned in two.
After calling the Macon fire department the priests and students centered their efforts on saving the library.

ALLEGED 'BLUEBEARD' ON TRIAL IN FRANCE

Versailles, November 7.—For three hours today Henri Desire Landru described as the "bluebeard" of Cambray, listened to the reading of his indictment, unfolding a tale of horrors which, if he is found guilty, will stamp him as one of the most remarkable criminals ever known. Tomorrow he will take the stand for direct examination.
Landru sat apparently unconcerned throughout the reading which, with the roll called witnesses and the selection of the jury occupied the entire first session of his trial in the Seine-Et-Oise Assizes.

Supplying Stenographers and Bookkeepers to the Business World for 56 Years, the Southern Shorthand and Business University Is Now One of Atlanta's Greatest Assets

Prominent Firms Praise The Graduates Turned Out By The Southern

Atlanta Fortunate in Having a School That Turns Out Such Efficient Stenographers and Bookkeepers, They Say.

There are no positions open in the commercial world to those who have not been properly trained in business, but there are opportunities on every hand to those who have a thorough understanding of bookkeeping or who can write and read shorthand fluently, and typewrite their notes neatly and accurately.

W. D. Mayard, of Gwinnett county, has just enrolled for a business course at the Southern Business College. When he entered he stated to the managers that he had been looking for a position for several weeks, but could not secure a place because he had received no business training.

The commercial establishment or educational institution that makes for itself a reputation for fair-dealing for strict honesty, for courtesy and for a proper appreciation of the patrons' rights and privileges, builds the kind of friendship that tends to its people who have never patronized it before, together with their friends.

This has been the policy of the Southern Shorthand and Business University, and the fact that its patronage has increased from a yearly attendance of 150 pupils, when Messrs. Briscoe and Arnold thirty-two years ago, merged the Southern School of Shorthand with the Moore's Business College, to its present enrollment of over 800 pupils, is a sure proof, overwhelmingly, that it is wise on the part of any concern to pursue such a policy.

The Southern's greatest asset, therefore, is the favorable opinion of others.

ATLANTA TITLE AND TRUST COMPANY'S STRONG ENDORSEMENT

Southern's Graduates Are 100 Per Cent Efficient, This Firm Says.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 4, 1921. Mr. L. W. Arnold, Vice-President, Southern Shorthand & Business University, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir: In reply to your letter requesting us to give you an opinion as to the efficiency of the stenographers graduated from your College, beg to make the following report: Every stenographer we have happened to have graduated from your College and we think they are very excellent in every respect and measure up one hundred per cent, being first-class in every way without any exception. With best regards, I am Yours very truly, WM. J. DAVIS, President.

FORMER SUPERINTENDENT ATLANTA PUBLIC SCHOOLS ENDORSES THE SOUTHERN

Prof. W. M. Slaton, Well-Known Throughout the South, Writes Most Interestingly About the Southern.

Atlanta, Ga., November 5, 1921. Southern Shorthand and Business University, Atlanta, Ga.

Gentlemen: Recently I had occasion to visit and study your Business University. As one who had spent his life in educational work, I was delighted to note your splendid organization, its thoroughness, the ability of your faculty,

COMMERCIAL EDUCATION IS NOW A NECESSARY ASSET

Years ago the commercial school was sometimes called a "clerk factory." It was supposed to be a school in which in three or four months a student could acquire enough knowledge of bookkeeping, penmanship, and arithmetic to serve as a clerk in a business office where he was supposed to complete his business education.

Today the training provided in the private business school does more than to fit the student for a vocation—it educates him.

There is just as much cultural value—just as much mental exercise—in the study of bookkeeping as there is in the study of geometry—just as much disciplinary value in the mastery of business letter writing as there is in the mastery of Latin.

The greatest occupation in the world today is business. It takes the time, the attention, and the talents of more people than any other calling with the possible exception of agriculture, and the 1920 census shows sixty-four million people living in cities, and fifty-two million living in the country.

The young man who studies the history of business, business organization, transportation, merchandising, commercial law, accounting, and business English, adds just as much to his mental power as does the one who spends the same length of time on the classics and "sophisticated" literature for the classical university course.

The young woman who studies shorthand and typewriting serves her best interests in more ways than one—she not only receives the right kind of discipline, but she also masters an art by which the door of Opportunity is opened. She acquires the best known stepping stone to unlimited business success. Thousands of graduates of the Southern Shorthand and Business University will attest this fact.

ty, the excellent discipline and the cheerful and enthusiastic spirit of your student body. Your large patronage demonstrates the popularity of your college, and which has no equal for technical correspondence or court reporting, can be learned just as quickly as any other system worth learning.

BIG LAW FIRM COMMENDS THE SOUTHERN'S WORK

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 2, 1921. Southern Shorthand & Business University, 111 Whitehall Street, Atlanta, Ga.

Gentlemen: We wish to write you that we have a stenographer who attended your school for the short period of three months, and we wish to say that her work is entirely satisfactory to us, and that from the time of her coming with us, due to the proper foundation and schooling which she received at your school, that her work has shown wonderful improvement, and take pleasure in recommending any of your graduates for positions.

Yours very truly, WESTMORELAND & SMITH, I. WESTMORELAND & SMITH, Attorneys at Law, Messrs. Westmoreland & Smith, 111 Whitehall Street, Atlanta, Ga.

PARTNERS FOR THIRTY-TWO YEARS

PHOTOS BY WESLEY WILSHABURG. PRESIDENT A. C. BRISCOE AND VICE PRESIDENT L. W. ARNOLD. Who purchased Moore's Business College 32 years ago, changing its name to The Southern Shorthand and Business University. Moore's College had been established 24 years, making the Southern now 56 years old.

Smith, that their stenographer is giving entire satisfaction after only a three months' course in the Southern, is significant in the extreme. It shows that the Graham-Pitman Shorthand, which this former pupil learned at the Southern and which has no equal for technical correspondence or court reporting, can be learned just as quickly as any other system worth learning.

It also fully establishes the fact that the Southern has unequalled facilities for developing the most expert shorthand writers in a minimum length of time. Its six teachers of shorthand keep the students busy every minute during school hours, between 9 o'clock a. m. and 3 o'clock p. m.

THE SOUTHERN LAUDED FOR TURNING OUT SUCH COMPETENT HELP

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 3, 1921. Southern Shorthand & Business University, Atlanta, Ga.

Gentlemen: We have a Mr. T. M. Waldo in our employ who was a student in your College. Although he has only been here a short time we have found him a very energetic and reliable man, and we are advancing his salary beginning with November. Yours very truly, V. A. MOON, Secretary and Treasurer, Mechanics Loan & Savings Co.

IMPORTANT FIRM EMPLOY TWO PUPILS AT ONE TIME

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 26, 1921. Southern Business College, Atlanta, Ga.

Gentlemen: We are glad to tell you that the two young men whom you sent us, Messrs. C. M. Cobb and P. J. Pate, are doing splendid work and we would like to say that if these two gentlemen are samples or examples of the young people you turn out of the Southern Business College, you are to be congratulated.

A. P. Hamberg, Manager. This firm is one of the largest paint manufacturers in the world. The Southern's product pleased its members, hence the Southern is the recipient of congratulations.

FOUNDED BIG BUSINESS ON BUSINESS TRAINING

Arthur Hardaker, With Ambition and a Business Education, Becomes a Big Lumber Dealer.

If proof were needed of the statement that this is the age of young people in business, or that a man or woman's success is limited to his or her own ambition, the remarkable story of Arthur Hardaker would amply furnish such proof.

When Mr. Hardaker sold out all his earthly possessions in south Florida, he came to Atlanta with enough money to pay for tuition and board. He entered the Southern Shorthand and Business University and began a business training course with but one idea in mind, and that was the "determination to succeed."

He possessed ambition, energy and a common school education. Since completing his course in Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Typewriting, Commercial Arithmetic, Banking, etc., his success has been phenomenal. The managers of the Southern placed Mr. Hardaker in his first position as bookkeeper and cashier for one of the leading hotels in Atlanta, at a salary of $125 a month and board. He saved his money, invested it wisely and it brought him a return of $1,000 in a few days. This is the largest and most successful lumber merchant in Florida, receiving large orders, not only from his own state, but from all parts of the United States.

COURSES AND SUBJECTS TAUGHT AT THE SOUTHERN

The various courses taught at the Southern Shorthand and Business University include Bookkeeping, Commercial Law, Banking, Business Arithmetic, Penmanship, Public Accounting and Auditing, Shorthand, Typewriting, Reporting, Business English, Spelling, Correspondence, Salesmanship and Business Efficiency.

A pupil may take any or all of these branches, as the school employs a large and capable faculty. Pupils entering from out of town are met at the train, when so desired and assisted in securing desirable boarding places.

The Southern's special representative, Mr. W. R. Bridges, will call upon any one, in or out of Atlanta, who may desire information in detail about the school, but he is not going to bore or annoy any prospective pupil with frequent calls. Those who really are looking for the best business education, are requested to call upon twenty-five or more of the banks and prominent firms in Atlanta and ask them to recommend a good school. Such inquiries will enroll at the Southern.

The Night School. Abraham Lincoln became the great American because he worked while other people slept. If you wish to improve your position and cannot attend the day classes, by all means enroll at the night school.

THE SOUTHERN'S DEPT. OF BUSINESS ENGLISH

It is the aim of the Southern to teach thoroughly those things which are essential to the writing of grammatically correct English. It offers a practical review of English grammar, a very thorough course in punctuation and special instruction on the "Business Letter."

This course gives to the student who is lacking in previous education in this branch a chance to perfect his knowledge of English and prepare himself to be a competent correspondent. It offers to the high school and college graduate an opportunity to learn that English which will be needed in a business career.

WORLD'S RECORD MADE AT THE SOUTHERN

Herman D. Strauss, of Albany, Ga., learned to write 125 words a minute in shorthand within a period of 30 days, at the Southern Business College. This exceeds all records so far as statistics show. Of course this was a remarkable case, but it shows what is possible with a good pupil in a good school.

Congressional Reporters At Washington Write To The Southern

They Say It Requires Pitmanic Shorthand to Do the Work of Congress — The Southern Teaches That System.

Become a good stenographer or none at all. Develop into an expert reporter, and not a jockey who bungles his reports.

To become expert, learn the best system of shorthand known to the reportorial world. To find this out, ask the shorthand reporters of Atlanta and elsewhere—there are several of them around at the Fulton county court house.

The Southern Shorthand and Business University present below overwhelming evidence of the superiority of Pitmanic Phonography, the real shorthand, which is used by all the reporters in the United States senate and house of representatives, where it requires the best known system to do the work. The testimony of these experts should be conclusive.

The Southern teaches the shorthand used by these congressional reporters, although it has a Gregg Shorthand Department for those who, for any special reason, might wish to learn that system.

In a letter to the Southern, dated October 24, 1921, Jas. W. Murphy, one of the senate reporters at Washington, says: "I am a Pitmanic writer. If a neophyte should seek from me an expression of opinion concerning the system best adapted for general shorthand work, especially reporting work, I should unhesitatingly advise him to study and perfect himself in Pitmanic shorthand."

Fred Ireland, dean of the reporters of the house of representatives, and considered one of the two finest shorthand reporters in the world, says in a letter to the Southern:

"There are, say, forty professional shorthand reporters at Washington, who do all the reporting of congress, the interstate commerce commission, the war labor board, the federal trade commission, the Federal Reserve Board, the Federal Reserve Bank, and the Federal Reserve Bank, and the house committee reporters, all use Pitmanic shorthand."

Jas. R. Wick, another reporter in the United States senate, writes: "Pitmanic shorthand is beyond any question regarded in Washington as the best for expert work. All the reporters in the United States senate, and the house committee reporters, all use Pitmanic shorthand."

Theo. F. Shney, dean of the official reporters in the United States senate, Washington, D. C., in a letter dated October 19, 1921, to the Southern, says: "In parliamentary reporting the writers of Pitmanic shorthand have the entire field so far as I know."

John D. Cremer, another reporter in the house of representatives, writes to the Southern: "All the official reporters of the senate and the house, and the representatives use Pitmanic shorthand."

Messrs. H. B. Weaver, Frank H. Barto and R. J. Speer, all official reporters in the United States senate, in a joint letter to the Southern, say: "We regard the Pitmanic shorthand as the most suitable system for expert stenographic work."

Turned Failure Into Success With Pitmanic Shorthand

Earl H. Pindel, court reporter, 339 New Courthouse, Cleveland, Ohio, writes to the Southern as follows: "I wrote a non-Pitmanic system for several years, tested it out thoroughly in reporting work, flung it aside, learned Pitmanic shorthand, and turned failure into success as a court reporter."

"Pitmanic shorthand is the only shorthand that meets all the demands of court reporting work. It is brief, it is legible, it is concise, it is the greatest speed. It is the shorthand used by experts."

EMPLOYMENT DEPT. OF THE SOUTHERN

The Southern Business College maintains an employment department, which sees to it that the right student goes to the right place.

Business men are requested to call, phone or write, when in need of stenographers, bookkeepers or other clerical help and this department of the school will do the rest, absolutely free of charge to either the firm or the pupil.

There is no haphazard guesswork in placing students—they go to the positions just as requested, therefore, business men save time and worry by calling on The Southern Employment department for their help. Over 25,000 students have gone to positions. Phone M. 5090 for help.

AN EDUCATION BRINGS $24,000 GREATER INCOME

The uneducated person earns an average of $8000 a year, and has a working period of forty years. This means an earning ability of $24,000. The educated person earns an average of $12,000 a year for forty years, or $48,000 in a lifetime.

The difference in the total earnings of the two classes is $24,000. If the difference were measurable in money only, it would be worth while to be educated, but think of what it means in added capacity for enjoying life, in enlarged opportunities for culture, in better living conditions, in social standing, in the field of public service—in a thousand ways.

And how little it costs! For our typical educated boy or girl, let us start with the high school of four years, with a business course of a scholastic year, nine months, added. The full course of The Southern Shorthand and Business University runs from seven to nine months, making a total of about five years in both schools.

If five years in school will make a difference in earning ability of $24,000 a year, a year in school must be worth $4,800, and a month $480. It is hardly probable that even the brightest, keenest boy or girl can make that much more money, and yet, it is! Figure this over for yourself—then try to decide whether you can afford to start your life-work handicapped by the lack of education—to start with a fixed charge of $21,000 levied against your earning power for the price of ignorance!

Of course there are graduates of the Southern who are making from $5,000 to $10,000 a year, but the foregoing estimate of income is a conservative average.

The World Is Reported, Commerce Chronicled By Pitmanic Phonography

All shorthand writers, without regard to system, were welcome to take part in the National Shorthand Convention held December 30, 1919, under the auspices of the Certified Shorthand Reporters' Society of New York City, and in the presence of the members of the New York State Shorthand Reporters' Association then assembled in its forty-fourth annual convention.

In this contest, Nathan E. Hirsch, a writer of Pitmanic Phonography created a new world's record for shorthand speed by dictating at the rate of 322 words a minute. The second place in this contest was taken by Willard Rattome, another writer of Pitmanic Phonography, who dictated at the rate of 312 words a minute. The highest shorthand speed record known to that time. He now comes back after ten years in his old form only slightly behind Mr. Hirsch.

These expert reporters write real shorthand, such as is written by the great body of the ablest practitioners in the English-speaking countries of the world.

Pitmanic Phonography is eighty-three years young and it is the up-to-date shorthand of the English-speaking world today.

Pitmanic Phonography is written by more than 75 per cent of the shorthand clerks employed in the departments of the United States government—see the report of the Commissioner of Education.

Pitmanic Phonography is written by more than 91 per cent of the official shorthand reporters in the law courts of America—see the official roster of the National Shorthand Reporters' Association.

Pitmanic Phonography is written by 82 per cent of the official court reporters in the state of Indiana by 29 of the 31 United States Court reporters in Michigan.

Pitmanic Phonography is taught by 75 per cent of all the business colleges in the United States—there are nine hundred such colleges.

A large number of the business firms of Atlanta get their stenographers from the Southern because they know that its graduates make good, and its graduates succeed because they have been taught Graham's Pitmanic Phonography.

SEVEN FROM ONE FAMILY TAKE THE SOUTHERN'S COURSE

It's true of business that "there's no better advertisement than a pleased customer."

Mrs. Imogen Tupper sent a son to the Southern for Business Course. He succeeded well. Then others followed until seven members of that family had obtained a thorough business education at the Southern. They have all been very successful in business, one having written a book on Finance, which is being used by large banking institutions.

Mrs. Tupper is well known throughout this state, being the widow of the late Dr. T. C. Tupper, who was at one time pastor of the St. Philip's Episcopal church of Atlanta.

Let's get to WORK

Relieve Unemployment in the Building Trades This Winter by starting to Build or Remodel NOW

The October 24th Issue of "Commerce Reports" published by the United States Department of Commerce prints a report of the President's Conference on Unemployment, Mr. Herbert Hoover, Chairman, containing of which the following excerpts are part:

"Emergency Measures Recommended for Recovery of Unemployment"

6. Private houses, hotels, offices, etc., can contribute to the situation by making repairs and alterations and doing cleaning during the winter instead of waiting until spring, when employment will be more plentiful.

7. Public construction is better than relief. The municipalities should expand their school, street, and sewage repair work and public building to the fullest possible volume compatible with the existing circumstances. That existing circumstances are favorable is indicated by the fact that over $700,000,000 of municipal bonds, the largest amount in history, have been sold in 1921. Of these, $106,000,000 were sold by 333 municipalities in August. Municipalities should give short-time employment the same as other employers.

11. The greatest field for immediate relief of unemployment is in the construction industry, which has been artificially restricted during and since the war. We are short more than a million homes; all kinds of building and construction are far behind national necessity. The Senate Committee on Reconstruction and Production in March of this year estimated the total construction shortage in the country at between 10 and 20 billion dollars. Considering all branches of the construction industry, more than 2,000,000 people could be employed if construction were resumed.

Thousands of buildings have insufficient or inadequate plumbing or none whatever.

There are also many that should have an inspection of the plumbing to insure functioning as intended. This can be done without regard to inclement or cold weather, which in many localities prevents outdoor work.

By remodeling during the winter, other months may be utilized more for new construction, which promises to be heavy in 1922.

Hotel, Apartment and Garage owners will find the winter admirable for preparation for the coming busy season.

School directors should anticipate their requirements, thus forestalling the annual demand which cannot satisfactorily be supplied during the vacation period.

Anticipate requirements now. Stocks are low and much material required must come from the factories.

Plumbing installed during the winter may also provide work for others, such as carpenters, painters, paper hangers, decorators, etc.

The employment you cause will extend from your city or town to the far distant mills, mines, factories, forests—helping all.

Contracting Plumbers are ready to serve you. Call yours and secure an estimate on that additional, long contemplated bathroom or new 36-inch high kitchen sink.

"Standard" branches and showrooms listed below are at your service for all plumbing requirements. Without any feeling of obligation call at nearest branch for any information desired.

How To Get Relief From Rheumatism

Scientists Agree That the Cause Is Due to Waste Products In the Blood.

The blood is the means by which all issues, muscles, ligaments and flesh of the body are directly or indirectly nourished. It is also the blood stream that carries out the waste products of the body.

When waste products accumulate, they are a menace to life. They cause lowered vitality, many skin disorders and rheumatism. Genuine relief from the agony of rheumatism can be had only by correcting the basic trouble—waste products.

Thousands and thousands of men and women during the past 50 years have cleared their blood of waste products with S. S. S. It is the ideal remedy for rheumatism, because it removes the poisonous waste matter which is causing the trouble. There are no bad after effects and the result is wonderful. Begin taking S. S. S. today and write for 50 page illustrated booklet, "Facts About the Blood"—free.

Personal medical advice, without charge, may also be had by sending a complete description of your case. Address: Chief Medical Director, S. S. S. Specific Co., 732 E. S. S. Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga. All drug stores sell S. S. S.—(adv.)

Common Sense Notes for the Careful Buyer of Christmas Gifts

This coming holiday season, according to authorities, will bring back the careful buyers.

We rejoice that this is so, for it is the spirit of olden times—this careful buying spirit—the spirit that built up heirlooms. It brought you and other folks gold and silver pieces that have been handed down several generations—diamonds and pearls that have given joy to grandmother, mother and grandchild.

The careful buyer is the one who will put a few more dollars into a watch with the knowledge that he will have an honest-to-goodness timepiece.

$828,000 TOTAL IN GEORGIA DRIVE

With cities and counties over the state consistently reporting oversubscriptions of their quotas, the local phase of the $1,000,000 University of Georgia war memorial drive proceeds encouragingly, according to Harold Hirsch, chairman for Fulton county. Local workers, both men and women, who are doing yeoman service for the woman's division of the memorial are still canvassing, and report that responses on Monday, the first day of the drive, were very good. There are no bad after effects and the result is wonderful. Begin taking S. S. S. today and write for 50 page illustrated booklet, "Facts About the Blood"—free.

Franklin county, the second to go over the top, is reported to have subscribed $8,850 by its Chairman, C. A. Bryant, of Royston. The alumni club, of Royston, is also contributing, and expects to show an increase in the figure by Armistice day. Clarke county, the seat of the university, has reached a total of $18,122, and amounts to $18,000 more than its quota.

"In every two and county, the alumni of old Georgia are at work," says Harry Hodson, chairman. "Their determination to put this thing across will result in Georgia's greatest victory on Armistice day. We hope to be able to announce the million-dollar on November 11, and if the rest of the state follows the lead set by Macon, Athens and Royston, we can do it."

BIBB COUNTY RAISES QUOTA. Macon, Ga., November 7.—(Special.)—Bibb county went over the top today in the University of Georgia war memorial fund campaign, $100,000 being raised at a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce. The university, through the University of Georgia, immediately thanked the county. The county has pledged to contribute $100,000 to the state to pass the assigned quota.

A feature of the luncheon was the decision of the Macon alumni of the university to contribute $10,000 to secure the Georgia-Dartmouth football game, which is to be played November 20. A committee was named to get busy on the proposed game, and it will be taken up with Dartmouth, through the University of Georgia, immediately. The Macon Chamber of Commerce gave its pledge to co-operate in securing accommodations for the visitors in the event of the game is played here.

Burglars Ransack

Hirschberg Studio; Safe Is Untouched

The second and third floors of 34-1-2 Whitehall street, occupied by the photographic establishment of Wesley Hirschberg, were entered Sunday night or early Monday morning by burglars, who ransacked the offices on both floors and left photographic supplies strewn all over the floors.

It is not believed by Mr. Hirschberg that the thieves got much for their work, although it was impossible to tell just what was missing. They overlocked the safe, but even had they opened it, they would have found no money, Mr. Hirschberg stated.

Entrance was gained by breaking the glass in the front door. The burglary was discovered by the negro maid as she opened the studio Monday morning.

As a day of prayer for the success of the arms conference to convene in Washington November 11, R. D. Webb, general secretary of the Georgia Sunday School association, has designated Sunday, November 20.

In view of the suggestion that many Sunday schools may desire to carry out a special program for disarmament day, representatives of the Georgia Sunday School association, with headquarters at 917 Hart building, will be prepared to give out copies of suggested programs for the day.

The Constitution's Weekly Novel

The Spoils of the Strong

BY ELEANOR TALBOT KINKEAD
(Copyright, 1921, for The Constitution.)

Next Week, "The Single Track," by Douglas Grant, Starting Sunday.

(Continued From Yesterday.) The colonel's eyes rested for an instant upon it. His face darkened. "Humph! A bride-rose," he muttered. "Yes—I know," replied Evelyn, "but unfortunately Cousin Marshall doesn't also know."

"He knows, because I have just told him," she answered, wondering. "Oh—I see," he answered, suddenly comprehending. "So Geoffrey was in some sort of danger, after all? How lovely that you should have been the one to bring the glad news to Cousin Marshall. Do you know, we knew nothing of it until today at luncheon? Mother mentioned the fact of Mrs. Delafield's marriage quite casually at the table. Geoffrey never flinched. I honestly think he is relieved. But he has been like that since the day she left. Notwithstanding his grief about Cousin Marshall, he has seemed like a new being since then. I can't quite describe the change in him. It is so subtle. He looks now so—powerful, and sometimes his face is positively radiant."

"The colonel would like to have your signatures as witnesses," he said, in a prompt, business fashion that, however, failed to overshadow the man's very pronounced southern courtesy. "May I ask you to sign?" he asked, looking at Evelyn. "A few moments later Evelyn once more was sitting alone by the colonel's bedside, Marjorie having reluctantly having yielded to insistence and gone for a brief and much needed rest. The house was very quiet. The colonel was quiet and apparently sleeping, his whimsical, guarded countenance peaceful as a little child's."

All at once, something made her fearful. With quickly beating heart she saw the old man, suddenly she sank down on her knees beside the bed. A moment afterward the door opened and a soft, low, long, they knew that was Geoffrey's, and she saw a single glance he also understood.

A low sharp cry escaped him. He sank to his knees beside her. "Neither you, nor I, nor any of us," he said, "can help you. We can only keep together, here, away from the majesty of death and united for a little space by the common bond which links human beings together."

(Continued Tomorrow.) Each week The Constitution gives its readers a $1.50-$1.90 novel free. Starting in next Sunday's Constitution Magazine, read "The Single Track," by Douglas Grant. The novel will be completed by the following Saturday.

The Constitution's Weekly Detective Story

The Little Girl From Serbia

A PETER RUFF STORY
BY E. PHILIPS OPPENHEIM
(Copyright, 1921, for The Constitution.)

Next Week, "The Demand of the Double Four."

(Continued From Yesterday.) "You dear, brave man," she murmured. "Paul, what am I to say to you?" He laughed. "That's what I'm here to ask," he declared. "You wouldn't give me my answer at the ball. Perhaps you'll give it to me now."

They shrank apart. Peter felt his nerves stiffen—felt himself constrained to hold even his breath as he widened a little the crack in the curtains. The door had been flung open. Von Horn, his dress in wild disorder, pale as a ghost, and with a great bloodstain upon his cheek, stood confronting them.

"When you have done with your love making," he called out, "I'll trouble you to restore my property!" The electric light gleamed upon a small revolver which flashed out toward the young American. Paul Jernyn never hesitated for a moment. He seized the chair by his side and flung it at Von Horn. There was a shot, the crash of the falling chair, a cry from Jernyn, who never hesitated, however, in his rush. The two men closed. A second shot went harmlessly to the ceiling. The little lady stole away—stoic softly across the room toward the table. She opened the drawer. Suddenly the blood in her veins was frozen into fear. From nowhere, it seemed to her, came a hand which held her wrists like iron!

"Madam," Peter Ruff whispered from behind the curtain, "I am sorry to deprive you of it, but this is stolen property."

Her screams rang through the room. Even the two men released one another. "It is gone! It is gone!" she cried. "Some one was hiding in the room! Quick!"

She sprang into the hall. The two men followed her. The front door was slammed. They heard flying footsteps outside. Von Horn was out first, clearing the little flight of steps in one bound. Across the road he saw a flying figure. A level stream of fire poured from his hand—twice, three times. But Peter Ruff never faltered. Round the corner he tore. The man had kept his word—the brougham was already moving slowly.

"Jump in, sir," the man cried. "Throw yourself in. Never mind about the door."

They heard the shouts behind. Peter Ruff did as he was bid, and sat upon the floor, raising himself gradually to the seat when they had turned another corner. Then he put his head out of the window. "Back to the Duchess of Montford!" he ordered.

The latest of the guests had ceased to arrive—a few were already departing. It was an odd time, however, with the servants who loitered in the vestibules of Montford House, and they looked with curiosity upon this strange guest who arrived at five minutes to two, limping a little, and holding his left arm in his right hand. One footman on the threshold nearly addressed him, but the words were taken out of his mouth when he saw Lady Mary and her brother—the Honorable Maurice.

JUDGE DECRIES CRIME INCREASE

Decrying the increase of crime among the youth of the county, Judge J. D. Humphries, in three Fulton superior court Monday in his charge to the November term grand jury, declared that crime could not "stop" the children in the home.

He declared that he is not an alarmist, but that statistics force him to deplore the future with grave apprehension unless something were done in the home to stop criminal tendencies manifested by the youth of the day.

He asked for the enforcement of all laws and did not stress any special class of violations in his charge. "Urges Enforcement." "It appears to the court," Judge Humphries said, "that there is a great mass of crime being committed in Atlanta. I don't think the citizens of the city should be unduly alarmed as this is a cosmopolitan city and criminals drift in here from all parts of the country. However, I think the greater factor in supporting crime is to let the criminal class know that there will be certain punishment in this court for those who are convicted of violating the law."

Judge Humphries stated that objections had been raised in some quarters to misdemeanor cases being tried in the superior court. "We only try misdemeanors when special reason made by the grand jury that such be done," he said. "However, with the exception of one or two misdemeanors, all the others tried in this court would not take up ten days' time. This term, only 11 misdemeanors were tried. There were disposed of only nine trials, all the others being pleas which took up only a few minutes of the court's time. The trial of misdemeanor cases in this court has had nothing to do with making the trial docket congested."

Other Judges. Judge Humphries pointed out that it would be impossible to dispose of the 872 felony, already disposed of this year, if it were not for the assistance of visiting judges. He stated that no provision has been made for paying those judges and that Governor Hines pays the expenses out of his own pocket. The September bills and the court disposed of 200 cases.

J. B. Campbell was selected foreman of the jury.

FLYNT UNDECIDED UPON ACCEPTANCE OF ATTORNEYSHIP

Judge J. J. Flynt, of Griffin, will not make a decision for several days as to whether or not he will accept the appointment as special counsel for the state railroad commission. Governor Hines announced Monday that he had tendered Judge Flynt as special counsel for the railroad commission. Judge Flynt held a conference in the governor's office Monday morning relative to the appointment of Judge Flynt to succeed Judge James K. Hines, who resigned to accept a position as associate justice of the supreme court in 1922, to succeed Judge Walter F. George, resigned.

Governor Hines' resignation as special counsel for the railroad commission is not effective until December 31, and Judge Flynt has plenty of time in which to decide what he will do. I have tendered him the appointment and he asked for more time to consider it, which I granted," the governor said Monday.

At the governor's office Monday, Judge Flynt said he might not see his way to accept the appointment. The position carries with it a salary of $2,500 a year, and Judge Flynt would have to resign as judge of the city court of Griffin to accept it.

C. W. HATCHER BURIED

Prominent Atlanta Business Man Rests in Greenwood.

Funeral services for Clarence W. Hatcher, who was prominently identified with the business activity of Atlanta, were conducted at the residence, 908 Highland avenue, at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon by Rev. Lee C. Cuts and Rev. S. A. Cowan. Interment followed in Greenwood cemetery. Mr. Hatcher died in a private hospital Sunday morning.

Mr. Hatcher was president of the C. W. Hatcher and company department store on Marietta street, vice president of the C. W. Hatcher Insurance agency and was connected with other business enterprises. He was a member of the Capital City Lodge of Masons, Capital Lodge of Old Fellows, and was connected with other fraternal orders. He was also president of the Gibbons in Georgia.

Surviving Mr. Hatcher are his widow, three brothers, E. B. Hatcher, of Hawkinsville; George E. Hatcher, of Macon; and C. E. Hatcher, of Atlanta, and a sister, Mrs. L. H. Hill, of Atlanta.

MAN RUN DOWN BY OWN AUTO; LEG FRACTURED

Three automobile accidents were reported to the police Monday. In one, J. G. Terry, of 273 Formwalt street, sustained a fractured leg, and was otherwise badly bruised. He was carried to the Grady hospital for treatment. The machine plunged forward, running over Mr. Terry and continuing until stopped by Superintendent R. E. Riley, of the Norris Candy company.

The other two accidents were collisions between Georgia Railway and Power company street cars and automobiles. No injuries resulted from either. The auto of R. E. Jackson, of 102 Dancy street, was struck on Peachtree street, near the Georgia Railway. The motor truck of the Greenwood Dairy company collided with a Forest avenue car at the corner of Forrest avenue and Jackson street.

New Florida Train Passes Through City On Maiden Journey

The "Swansea River Special," the first through passenger train ever operated between Cincinnati and Jacksonville, Fla., passed through Atlanta Monday on its first southbound trip, carrying about 200 passengers. This train reaches the west coast of Florida over a new short route, which means a saving of several hours in the running time.

The route of the train is over the Southern railway system from Cincinnati to Hampton, Fla., and over the Seaboard from Hampton to Tampa and St. Petersburg. Sleeping cars are handled on the train from Detroit, Cleveland and Louisville to St. Petersburg via Tampa, and from Cincinnati, Tampa and Sarasota. The equipment also includes dining through coaches from Cincinnati to St. Petersburg, with dining cars serving all meals en route.

Southbound, the train leaves Atlanta at 11:45 a. m. The northbound train leaves Atlanta at 3:20 p. m.

WIDELY KNOWN JEWELRY MAN DIES AT HOME

Robert P. Stahl, vice president of the Stahl & Freeman jewelry company, died Sunday night at his home in the Virginia apartments at Fifteenth and Peachtree streets. The body was taken to the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son pending funeral arrangements.

Mr. Stahl was widely known in the Atlanta business world as well as club circles. He was a member of the Kiwanis club, the Athletic club and Palestine lodge, No. 468, Masons.

Mr. Stahl was 44 years old, and is survived by his widow, and one daughter, Miss Beren Stahl.

Brush teeth for ten days in this new way. We supply the test. See and feel the good effects. Compare them with the old ways. It will be a pleasant test. And it may bring to you, as it has to millions, a new conception of clean teeth.

Whiter teeth

One great object is to fight the film—that viscous film you feel. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. Old brushing methods do not effectively combat it. Much is left intact, forming a dingy coat. And most tooth troubles are now traced to it. Film is what discolors, not the teeth. It forms the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germ-bred by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

SERVICES ARE HELD FOR DR. ARMSTRONG

Funeral services for Dr. M. N. Armstrong, aged 73 years, who died at his residence, 242 Ponce de Leon avenue, Sunday morning, were conducted at the First Presbyterian church at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, by Rev. J. Spole Lyons.

After the services the body was sent to Newton, N. J., where interment will be made. Dr. Armstrong was for fifteen years president of the board of trustees of the Leonard Street Orphan's home. He was also a trustee of Oglethorpe university.

Surviving Dr. Armstrong are his son, R. Blair Armstrong of Atlanta; a daughter, Mrs. Harold Armstrong of Atlanta; and a brother, George A. Armstrong, of Dorchester, Neb.

A resolution of condolence in the death of Dr. Armstrong, and of appreciation of his work as president of the board of trustees of the orphanage was addressed to his son by the trustees of the home.

The alumnae of the Washington seminary will hold the first meeting of the fall on Tuesday afternoon, November 8, at the home of the president, Miss Martha Louise Cassels, at 3:30 o'clock.

Officers will be elected and important business considered. A full attendance of the "old girls" is urged.

Washington Seminary Notes.

The most noteworthy event of last week was the beautiful program of songs and piano numbers furnished by Mrs. Rust-Mellor and Mr. Cooper on Tuesday morning. The work of artists, it was thoroughly enjoyed.

Colors have been flying and enthusiasm running high because of the interclass games in relay races, dodge and volleyball.

The seniors were victors in volleyball with the sophomores coming second. Basketball practice will commence next week.

The College Prep club numbers about 25 this year. Juniors and seniors taking the college preparatory course are eligible for membership. The officers are: president, Margaret Massengale; vice president, Isabel Breitenbacher; secretary, Elizabeth Holleman; treasurer, Constance Cone.

Frances Cone entertained the Seventh Grade club on Friday afternoon.

Halloween was celebrated by the students in the boarding department on Saturday evening, October 23. Interesting games and social contests made the evening pass quickly. There were appropriate prizes for the winners, the merry evening being brought to a close by a Halloween supper.

Macon Woman's Novel Soon to Be Filmed.

Macon, Ga., November 7.—(Special.)—Mrs. Helen Topping Miller, Macon's gifted short story writer, has just sold the screen rights to her new novelette, "Peas Porridge Cold," to the Famous Players-Lasky corporation. The story itself was sold to The Saturday Evening Post some time ago and its publication has been awaited with a great deal of interest.

This is the second story the screen rights of which Mrs. Miller has sold. The first was "Deuce High," also a Saturday Evening Post story. Rights to that one being sold to Thomas H. Ince. Neither of the stories have yet been filmed, due to the depression in the film industry, but it is understood that they will be begun on both of them shortly.

NERVOUS WRECK FOR SIX WEEKS

Kentucky Lady Tells How She Became Strong and Healthy—Recommends Cardui to Weak Women.

Mount Vernon, Ky.—Mrs. Cynthia Vanhook, formerly of Stanford, but now residing here, says that after her third child she was a nervous wreck, took to resuming her household work soon, "and this caused me a great deal of trouble."

"I began to feel weak and all played out—not myself at all," as Mrs. Vanhook describes her condition. "For about six weeks I was just a nervous wreck. I had to have someone do all my household work."

"My doctor told me my imprudence had caused shock to the nervous system, and the thing to do was to use a tonic to build up my strength."

"He recommended Cardui. . . Very soon I saw an improvement in my condition. I used three bottles of Cardui and . . . my health was restored."

"I am a strong, healthy woman." This Kentucky lady adds that she never fails to recommend Cardui to all her friends, and that she has just a nervous wreck. I had to have someone do all my household work."

"My doctor told me my imprudence had caused shock to the nervous system, and the thing to do was to use a tonic to build up my strength."

Convention of Women's Clubs Opens Tuesday

Savannah, Ga., November 7.—(Special.)—A singular coincidence in connection with the annual meeting of the Georgia State Federation of Women's Clubs which opens formally tomorrow here, is that Mrs. Frost will formally welcome Mrs. Winter, of the far northwest, to the sunny south.

The national president, Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, will be introduced to a public gathering at the Savannah theater at noon by Mrs. Edward Frost, of the D. A. R. of Savannah, who will present the distinguished visitor with a parchment scroll upon which is engraved a cordial poem from the pen of Ralph McDevitt Thompson, Savannah's well-known magazine writer.

Savannah is ready for the great state gathering of women, which begins with the conference of the official of the southern division tomorrow and a reception to the state federation tomorrow night.

The program for Tuesday follows: 11 a. m. and 4 p. m. Delegates present credentials at DeSoto hotel.

6:30 p. m. Reception, guests of the Savannah Women's Federation at Alice temple, Bull street.

8:15 p. m. Municipal auditorium, Barnard and Perry streets.

Formal opening of the convention—Mrs. J. E. Hays and Mrs. J. P. Brantley, presiding.

Invocation, Rev. A. M. Hightlett, D. D., pastor Wesley Memorial church.

Georgia Federation Hymn—sung by Mrs. V. O. Rogers, Atlanta.

Music by Nan Stephens, Atlanta.

Welcome addresses, Savannah Women's Federation—Mrs. Paschal S. Strong; city of Savannah—His things women most want for the nation, not because they are women, but Americans. They must learn to look at things under the eyes of the sex but of race.

Thus she led up to the real message of her visit, that women cultivate a national consciousness, and work for that simple, but that greatest thing for peace among nations—the thing of which Aristotle spoke, which he described the state as a mutual understanding between friends, this ideal to be enlarged to include the world and the races.

Luncheon for Mrs. Winter.

A luncheon in honor of Mrs. Winter preceded the meeting. She addressed the luncheon held at the clubhouse, and assembling seventy-five women.

Mrs. Boykin, president of the club, presided over the table, at which Mrs. Winter was central figure, and at which were seated the officers of the club.

Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith was hostess of a large luncheon party in which were included Mrs. T. W. Harwick, wife of Georgia's governor; a group of state officers, ex-presidents and directors of the Georgia federation and the Atlanta Woman's club, and others.

In the party were Mrs. Irving Thomas, Mrs. Hugh Willet, Mrs. Charles J. Hayden, Mrs. Belling Jones, Mrs. Walter Moore, Mrs. Joan Moore, of Eufaula, Ala.; Mrs. Sam D. Jones, Mrs. A. O. Granger, Mrs. A. M. Wilson, Mrs. Edna Gilchrist, Mrs. Frank L. Woodruff, of Jackson, Tenn.; Mrs. Louise Weaver, Mrs. Estelle Garrett Bond, Mrs. L. Throver, Mrs. Colbie Vaughan, Mrs. Huber, of Wichita Falls, Texas; Mrs. Arthur Hazard, Mrs. E. H. Brandon, Mrs. E. E. Hightlett, of Killebrew, Miss. Mrs. T. T. Stevens, Mrs. J. E. Hays, of Monticello, Mrs. J. I. Fitzpatrick, of New York; Mrs. Lindsey Johnson, of Rome; Mrs. Sam Johnson, of New York; Mrs. Woodberry and Mrs. James Jackson, of New York city.

Other prominent women at the luncheon were: Mrs. Haynes McAdams, president of the Georgia League of Women Voters; Mrs. Eleanor Bacon, chairman of the Atlanta League of Women Voters; Mrs. Laura Smith, chairman of the woman's division of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Asafoff, wife of the president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Rhoda Woodruff, wife of the state public welfare board; Mrs. H. H. Haskins, fifth district president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Frank McCormack, president of the Atlanta Parent-Teacher council; Mrs. Edward E. Van Winkle, head of the woman's department of The Atlanta Journal; Mrs. William C. Jackson, The Atlanta Georgian; and the members of the Overseas Girls' club.

Decorations Beautiful.

Autumn foliage and flowers were an artistic decoration, these arranged by Mrs. G. H. Brandon, and a delicious luncheon was served. Toasts were addressed to Mrs. Winter, and there was beautiful music by Enrico Leide, who played a group of cello numbers. A telegram of good wishes was read from Mrs. Samuel M. Inman.

After luncheon Mrs. Boykin presided over brief exercises memorializing Armistice day, this program put on in advance, because so many of the clubwomen will be in Savannah on November 11.

Mrs. Boykin recited briefly the war history of the club, the roster was read of the sons of members in the service, and there were songs by Miss America Woodberry and Wilford Watters, both of whom served with the A. E. F. Mrs. R. K. Rumbaugh opened the program with prayer, and the audience sang the national anthem.

Prominent out-of-town women at the luncheon and meeting were Mrs. Oscar Peoples, Mrs. H. R. Maxwell and Mrs. J. J. Hill, of Cartersville; Mrs. John Moore, of Alabama, and others.

Mrs. Rumbaugh spoke in the interest of the Red Cross roll call, of which she is chairman, and Mrs. E. E. Hightlett for Poppy day sales, of which she is in charge for the Woman's club.

Mrs. Winter left with the Atlanta delegation for Savannah last night to attend the convention of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

Epworth League Gives Banquet.

The Epworth league of St. John's Methodist church held the annual banquet last Friday evening in the league parlors. Flowers, ferns and autumn foliage were used for decorating. The color scheme of gold and white, the league colors, were effectively carried out.

An elaborate dinner course was served, followed by cream and cake carrying out the league colors. Toasts and short talks were enjoyed. The first was by Judge W. H. Preston, the first president of St. John's league, followed by former presidents, Dr. Holzendorf, vice president of the Atlanta Epworth league union; Mr. Alvin Moore, of the Christian Endeavor of East point, and Mr. Serex, of Switzerland, a student of Emory university. Music was interspersed during the evening. The league song, "Onward, Epworth Leaguers," closed the evening's entertainment.

Those present were Mrs. and Mrs. L. L. Apperson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kincaid, Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Meeks, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Treat, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Holcomb, Mr. and Mrs. Orla Harfield, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Deavers, Judge W. H. Preston, John Stapp, Mr. and Mrs. Fred, Elsie Bart-

President Winter Speaks At Atlanta Woman's Club

Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, of Minneapolis, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and member of the advisory board of the United States representation in the disarmament conference, was the guest yesterday of the Atlanta Woman's club, and she delivered an address before that body which proved to the large gathering of women not only a memorable intellectual experience, but had a deep spiritual flavor, while the greatest test of its value was in its stimulus to action, as expressed in the comments of the audience.

Mrs. Winter has the true qualities of the orator. She is not only clear speaking and of magnetic personality, but she has a splendid power of visualization in the picturing of conditions as they exist today, and she holds the imagination of her hearers in the hollow of her hands. She appeals to their emotions, but through their minds, even more than their sentiments, and the background of it all is her own brilliant mentality, made stable by matured experience, and a solid sense of values.

Limitation of Armaments.

The necessity for international limitation of armaments, looking to final world peace, and the permanent exclusion of sword from the slavers, she led up to most cunningly through a picturization of the unruly part in which we live, the tumult of the world as it exists today, and the part women have in this tumultuousness, their role either as respondents or victims, and the effort they are putting forward to remedy the conditions, or the possibilities within them which they are not exercising.

The part they have played in the evolution of society as it is today made not only graphic, but most alluring in her cultured familiarity with its history and the romance.

Now is the real age of clarity, she said, when women extend the hand not to mere beauty and youth, but to all women, "Come in and help us with the big job of the world. We respect your character, your ability. We want your help."

Society and government have invaded the home, she said. The woman must invade society and the government to preserve the sacredness of the home. The women must not neglect what has always been their part in it, the culture of its spiritual side, and they must bring back into it responsibilities which they have been given to meet it women must learn what Richard Cabot calls the "cultivation of the affections." The home must be the brooding place of citizenship.

Budgets Large and Small.

The importance of the family budget she stressed and the woman's knowledge of its importance and the necessity of her expanding her viewpoint to see the inequalities in the national budget, with its 92 per cent expenditure in a few destructive channels, and the small residue left for the decorations.

After luncheon Mrs. Boykin presided over brief exercises memorializing Armistice day, this program put on in advance, because so many of the clubwomen will be in Savannah on November 11.

Mrs. Boykin recited briefly the war history of the club, the roster was read of the sons of members in the service, and there were songs by Miss America Woodberry and Wilford Watters, both of whom served with the A. Will Retain Golf PRO. AT PIEDMONT

After hearing charges of neglect of duty brought against Robert Ogg, golf professional in charge of the Piedmont park city course, the board of park commissioners at a special meeting Monday morning, voted to retain his services.

The charges of neglect were made by Mayor Key. After hearing discussion of conditions prevailing at the course the board held the decision in the hands of Dave Gillespie, general manager of parks.

Mr. Gillespie recommended another trial for the professional and the board voted accordingly.

Negro Asks Commutation.

The state prison commission Monday received a petition asking for commutation of death sentence to a 20-year term imposed on Will Ravanel, Hart county negro, who is to be hanged November 18 for criminal assault. The petition was sent to the commission by Attorneys John B. Morris and T. S. Mason, who asserted that grave doubt exists as to the guilt of the negro. The negro is more than 50 years old.

GERMAN BUSINESS AIDS GOVERNMENT

League of German Industrialists to Place Foreign Credits at Disposal of Government.

Berlin, November 7.—The League of German Industrialists has voted to come to the financial aid of the government by placing at its disposal the foreign credits of the league's members which, it is estimated, will yield one billion marks. A resolution to this effect was adopted after seven hours of stormy debate which was participated in by Hugo Stinnes, the financier, and Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, director of the Krupp works.

The resolution sets forth the following conditions:

Adoption by the government of a program of rigid economy and consultation with private enterprises in formulating the economic and tax program.

Declaration of the government's willingness to call upon foreign financial experts for advice in regard to the amount of credit to be floated, and its relation to the prevailing fluctuations of foreign exchange.

Enterprises in the hands of the state and public bodies to be managed in such a manner that they cease to be a drain upon the public treasury.

Freedom of the country's economic life from every restriction that hinders its development.

In this category the eight-hour day.

The meeting was attended by 1,200 representatives of big business concerns. Rudolf Havenstein, president of the Reichsbank, participated in the debate on the resolution urging the delegates to support the credit scheme.

Financial writers express the opinion that the government will be unable to agree to the stipulated conditions.

Forwaerts says: "This is the first instance in modern history of taxpayers arrogating to themselves the prerogative of dictating the conditions under which the state is willing to come to its aid." The newspaper adds that the industrialists proposition is "anything but a credit aid, and rather a political bargain which may be easily converted into usury."

It warns the government against surrendering itself into the hands of Stinnes and his allies.

Other writers declare their belief that the industrial leaders are not overly keen to aid the government.

The condition with reference to enterprises in the hands of the state, they say, obviously applies mainly to the railroads, which are now being operated at a loss. They construe the condition as a veiled attempt to force transfer of the roads to private ownership in the hope of converting them into money-makers which will eventually yield sufficient earnings to pay the interest on a foreign credit loan on a gold basis.

RICCI WANTS TRUTH AT ARMS CONFERENCE

Philadelphia, November 7.—Elimination of "diplomatic mystery" was advocated by Vittorio Ricci, Italian ambassador to the United States, in an address at a luncheon in honor of General Armando Diaz, commander-in-chief of the Italian army and hero of the "Piave."

"I came to the United States determined to tell the truth," he said. "I have a diplomatic coat of arms, but I am not a diplomat. I am a man of the world, and I want to know the truth. I want to know the truth about the arms conference, and I want to know the truth about the future of the world."

He said that the arms conference was a "great event" and that it was "a great opportunity" for the world to see the truth about the arms race. He said that the arms conference was a "great event" and that it was "a great opportunity" for the world to see the truth about the arms race.

MICHIGAN GREETED FRENCH PERSONAL

Detroit, Mich., November 7.—Marshal Foch's journey to Michigan today was a warmly greeted event. The entire population of the cities in which he stopped, including Detroit, with its million people.

Detroit's welcome, interpreted by the number of people who crowded the thoroughfares through which he passed, exceeded that of any city he has visited with the possible exception of New York.

Canada also joined the Michigan city in welcoming the marshal of France. Windsor, Ontario, sent a number of officers and men to participate in the parade, including a Highland band. It was one of the few times Canadian soldiers have crossed the international line, the last being when a contingent came over to extend a welcome to Colonel Roosevelt on the occasion of his visit here about a year before his death.

After a formal reception in the city hall where he was welcomed by Mayor James Couzens, he was driven in a parade through the downtown streets and to Detroit's large automobile factories. He made a tour of one of the factories and expressed surprise at its magnitude. He then rested before attending the banquet in his honor and the mass meeting in the afternoon.

Earlier in the day he had dedicated the Roosevelt American Legion hospital at Campuster.

Marshal Foch left after midnight for Cleveland, where he will arrive at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning to the guest of that city for two days.

COMMITTEE FAVORS SHEPPARD-TOWNER BETTER BABY BILL

Washington, November 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Sheppard-Towner bill for protection of maternity and infancy, already passed by the senate, was favorably reported today by the house interstate commerce committee.

As approved by the committee, which had it under daily consideration for weeks, the bill would limit to a period of five years the annual appropriation of $1,000,000, for use by the states and the federal government in the effort to protect infants and mothers. The appropriation of $450,000 for starting work under the bill was retained.

Efforts will be made by the committee to have the bill considered by the house this month.

Orders Klan Probe.

Houston, Texas, November 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Investigation of the Ku Klux Klan was ordered by Judge C. W. Robinson, in his charge to the new grand jury today in the criminal district court.

Ten laborers at Celvin receive from 8 to 20 cents a day.

Income tax statistics show that there are only four persons in this state with an income of more than $10,000 a year.

NEGROES AND LIQUOR TAKEN BY POLICE

A water pail full of whisky was found in a room at the East Fifth street address on Monday night when officers on Decatur street, in the squad of city detectives led by Lieutenant Ryan, raided the place and arrested three negroes. A bucket of liquor contained a dipper.

Five negroes and fourteen pints of whisky were "picked up" by the crew of officers on Decatur street. The prisoners were accused of being "pick-pocket" bootleggers. The squad of officers included Detectives McDaniel, Armstrong and Brown.

State May Punish Railroad Violators Of Laws, Says Court

Jackson, Miss., November 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Neither the Clayton anti-trust act of 1914, nor the act of congress of 1918, putting the railroad corporations for violations of their laws, committed by railroads prior to the passage of the Clayton act or the period of federal control, are in the scope of the act in the Mississippi supreme court.

BERRIEN COUNTY CAPTURES FIRST PRIZES AT FAIR

Nashville, Ga., November 7.—(Special.)—Berrien county after a hard struggle with most of the other counties, took first prize at the Georgia and Florida fair, and received the sum of $100 the judges of the fair awarding the prize to the county of Berrien, Brooks and Lowndes as to the way the three counties should stand this year with reference to the best, the second and the third.

After some very close consideration the judges placed the county of Lowndes at the head of the list, Brooks as second best, and Berrien as third prize winner. It was through the work of Miss Benny Wilder, demonstrator of domestic science for Berrien county, that the county was able to win third prize in the big contest.

Besides winning the third prize, Berrien took first prize as a producer of the best grade of oats, also the first prize as a producer of rice, and first prize for the best beans, Japanese persimmons and cranberries, for the best producer of Irish potatoes.

The resolution sets forth the following conditions:

Adoption by the government of a program of rigid economy and consultation with private enterprises in formulating the economic and tax program.

Declaration of the government's willingness to call upon foreign financial experts for advice in regard to the amount of credit to be floated, and its relation to the prevailing fluctuations of foreign exchange.

Enterprises in the hands of the state and public bodies to be managed in such a manner that they cease to be a drain upon the public treasury.

Freedom of the country's economic life from every restriction that hinders its development.

In this category the eight-hour day.

The meeting was attended by 1,200 representatives of big business concerns. Rudolf Havenstein, president of the Reichsbank, participated in the debate on the resolution urging the delegates to support the credit scheme.

Financial writers express the opinion that the government will be unable to agree to the stipulated conditions.

Forwaerts says: "This is the first instance in modern history of taxpayers arrogating to themselves the prerogative of dictating the conditions under which the state is willing to come to its aid." The newspaper adds that the industrialists proposition is "anything but a credit aid, and rather a political bargain which may be easily converted into usury."

It warns the government against surrendering itself into the hands of Stinnes and his allies.

Other writers declare their belief that the industrial leaders are not overly keen to aid the government.

The condition with reference to enterprises in the hands of the state, they say, obviously applies mainly to the railroads, which are now being operated at a loss. They construe the condition as a veiled attempt to force transfer of the roads to private ownership in the hope of converting them into money-makers which will eventually yield sufficient earnings to pay the interest on a foreign credit loan on a gold basis.

Twelfth District Fair Prizes.

Dublin, Ga., November 7.—(Special.)—J. H. Horne, of Laurens county, was awarded the second prize in the individual exhibit, falling to second to Mr. Spivey, of Treutlen, in the twelfth district fair.

In the Corn club boys' contest, Willford Crumpton, of Laurens, was awarded first prize; William Duke, of Johnson, came second, and Otto Sammons, of Treutlen, came third.

In the Laurens county individual exhibit, Dublin won first place, Smith's district won the second choice, and Bailey's came third.

JAPAN WILL SEEK TO HOLD GRIP IN EAST AT COMING DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE

The map shows the grip Japan has on eastern Asia. The shaded portions of land are territories that Japan either owns or controls.

1—The islands of Sakhalin and Yezo (Hokkaido) control the waters of Siberia and the outlet of the rich Amur basin, with all its mineral wealth.

2—The Japanese are still in Vladivostok and the surrounding territory, and show little disposition to get out.

3—They are advancing into the interior of Siberia.

4—They have a tight grip on Manchuria, and dominate North China by their guns at Port Arthur.

5—They have absorbed Korea.

6—They have seized all the wealth of Shantung, excluding every one but themselves from share, and now that they have everything they talk of returning the administration to China.

7—From Formosa they hope to dominate South China, which they expect to soon break up into a mass of disunited provinces. Formosa is fortified to look toward Hongkong, Canton, and the Yunnan valley.

8—They hold the former German Pacific islands, which lie in a crescent about our island of Guam and cut us off from the Philippines.

GASOLINE FAMINE IS NOW PREDICTED

Chicago, November 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—A report in the daily by the gas and oil companies of the American Gas association at the convention of the oil companies, said that the United States will face an oil famine which will restrict the use of automobiles and increase the cost of gasoline to such an extent that it will be taken to increase the supply. The committee had made a year's survey of the oil situation.

The report predicted that a duty on petroleum would curtail shipments from Mexico and greatly aggravate the situation.

Federal Reserve banks are not permitted by law to make loans direct to individuals or corporations, and they can only rediscount paper which bears the endorsement of a member bank. It is evident, therefore, that the Federal Reserve bank cannot render financial assistance to those engaged in commerce or industry, in agriculture or in the professions.

The Federal Reserve bank must first be negotiated with member banks or with non-member state banks which will in turn negotiate with the Federal Reserve bank.
